AI & AUTOMATION · WHERE AI HELPS

From today’s problems to AI-native work

THE PROBLEMS TODAY

01

Assistants giving stale answers

AI helpers answer from old policies or documents, so customers and staff get wrong information.

02

Automations acting unchecked

Bots send messages, change records or move money before a person has looked, and mistakes spread fast.

03

Bills nobody can explain

AI and tool costs grow every month, but nobody can link the spend to the work or results it delivers.

WHERE AI CAN HELP

01	Fresh, sourced answers	Keep assistant knowledge up to date and show the source behind every answer, so people can check it.
02	Approval steps that fit	Add a person’s sign-off to risky actions, while routine steps run on their own.
03	Test before release	Try every change to an assistant on real past cases before it goes live, and replay any incident.
04	Access kept to the minimum	Review what each automation can see and do, and remove access it no longer needs.
05	Cost tied to results	Link AI and tool spend to each workflow and outcome, so you can keep what works and cut the rest.

FOR INSPIRATION

AI-native ideas to get you thinking

Examples only, to show what AI-native work can look like. They are not part of the package scope or a promise of what we will build; your POC is agreed with you.

A policy changes overnight

TODAY

Someone has to remember to update every assistant, and some keep giving the old answer for weeks.

AI-NATIVE

Assistants could flag answers based on outdated documents and switch to the new policy once a person approves it.

A refund bot that asks first

TODAY

A bot either handles every refund on its own or sends them all to a person, with nothing in between.

AI-NATIVE

Small refunds within limits your team sets could go through, while unusual or larger ones wait for a person to decide.

The monthly AI bill review

TODAY

Finance sees one large bill and asks the team to explain it line by line.

AI-NATIVE

Leaders could see spend per workflow next to the work it handled, and decide where to invest or switch off.
