HERITAGE & FAITH · WHERE AI HELPS

From today's problems to AI-native work

THE PROBLEMS TODAY

01

Stories and records that are hard to find

Oral histories, photos and archives sit in boxes, drives and notebooks, so they are slow to use and easy to lose.

02

The same visitor questions, every day

Staff and volunteers answer opening times, access and event questions again and again, often in many languages.

03

Showing the year's work to funders

Reports for trustees and funders mean gathering visitor numbers, events and stories by hand from many places.

WHERE AI CAN HELP

01	Archive catalogue helper	Suggest titles, dates and tags for photos, documents and recordings, for a curator to check.
02	Oral history transcripts	Turn recorded interviews into searchable text and draft summaries, with consent details kept alongside.
03	Visitor help in many languages	Answer common visitor and pilgrim questions any time, in their language, from your own information.
04	Festival and volunteer planning	Draft rotas, reminders and day plans for events, so volunteers know where to be and when.
05	Reports for trustees and funders	Draft annual and grant reports from your own event, visitor and programme records.

FOR INSPIRATION

AI-native ideas to get you thinking

Examples only, to show what AI-native work can look like. They are not part of the package scope or a promise of what we will build; your POC is agreed with you.

An oral history, ready to share

TODAY

Interview recordings wait months for a volunteer to type them up.

AI-NATIVE

A recording could quickly become a draft transcript and summary, with consent limits attached, for a volunteer to check.

A visitor guide in their own language

TODAY

Visitors rely on printed leaflets in one or two languages.

AI-NATIVE

A visitor could ask a question on their phone in their own language and get an answer drawn from the site's approved texts.

The annual trustee report

TODAY

The director spends weeks gathering numbers and stories for the annual report.

AI-NATIVE

A first draft could be built from event logs, visitor counts and stories, leaving the director to shape the message.
